AUGUST 2015

Welcome to all of you who are brave enough to battle out staying here all summer. It is nice to see all of you at the club. It is a good way to stay cool and get some much needed work done. We are lucky to have two rooms at our disposal, so we must keep using them to their full advantage.

A hale and hearty welcome to our two newest members... Welcome to Mary Jo Torbet and Stephanie Rogall. Many of you remember Mary Jo who had been a member and is now rejoining us. We are glad to have old friends back as well as making new ones.

I realize it is only August, but the November Craft Fair and the December Bling Fling are just around the corner. So come in where the air is nice and cool and work on those projects to get ready, because I know from experience the time goes fast and all of a sudden it's QC time!!

What is QC? What is the Craft Fair? What is the Bling Fling? For those new to the world of beading and crafts, QC stands for Quality Control. All craft clubs have a quality control panel, group, etc that is responsible for making sure our product is up to par and meets the high standards we have set for our club. We do not want merchandise returned because it broke or was shoddily constructed. It is the job of Quality Control to make sure this does not happen.

The Craft Fair is a selling opportunity for all the clubs to sell their wares. We are all social clubs and not here to make a second living. We make our jewelry to sell so we CAN BUY MORE BEADS!!! The Bling Flings are just two more shows put on by our bead club, run through the Rec Centers, as an additional opportunity to sell our beautiful products without any competition from other clubs. We are very lucky as there are only a handful of clubs that have another chance to sell our wares.
